INTRODUCTION

“O LORD, how long shall I cry for help, and you will not hear? Or cry to you “Violence!” and you will not save? Why do you make me see iniquity, and why do you idly look at wrong? Destruction and violence are before me; strife and contention arise. So the law is paralyzed, and justice never goes forth. For the wicked surround the righteous; so justice goes forth perverted.

~Habakkuk 1:2-4 (ESV)

The Prophet Habakkuk: An Introduction

Where is God? What is He doing in the world? Does He care about what is going on? These questions come naturally to people living in a world where injustice seems to be the rule rather than the exception. In times of disorientation, we may ask, “Is this really my Father’s world?”

However, many Christians shy away from asking these questions. We may fear provoking God, be concerned about the opinions of others, or simply not know what, if any, answer we may find. As a result, we often struggle to answer the question: “How can I live well in this broken world? What does God expect from me?”

Habakkuk was a prophet who was likewise concerned about injustice. After years of revival and reformation under King Josiah in Judah, the people had once again turned away from God, ceased to listen to his law, and were perpetrating all kinds of evil against one another. The international news was not encouraging either; nations like Babylon threatened the security of Habakkuk’s people without offering any hope of moral and spiritual renewal.

In this context, Habakkuk asked hard questions, confident that God would hear and respond graciously. He modeled what it looks like to ask the questions we fear and to be vulnerable before God. He was not afraid to ask, and he was not afraid to listen.

Famously, God tells Habakkuk that “but the righteous shall live by his faith” (Habakkuk 2:4). While we may continue to wonder about the details of God’s plans, we can be confident of his intentions. God will accomplish several goals that we can scarcely imagine: showing his glory in the world, ending injustice, and caring for his people. God’s purposes may be difficult to see, but we do live in our Father’s world. We can trust him.

The Purpose of this Study Guide

This study guide is intended to be a simple way to reflect on the sermon passages week by week. We want to grow in our daily discipline of pursuing God in Scripture and in prayer. The daily discipline that this study guide represents will be a tangible way to allow the “word of Christ [to] dwell among us richly” (Colossians 3:16), by enhancing our engagement with the sermon passages and directing us in shared prayer.

How to Use the Study Guide

The date at the top of each page notes the Sunday for the respective week. The Scripture verse listed under each heading is a suggested memory verse for that week. Below that you will find a passage of Scripture, followed by “Reflection Questions.” In general, these readings will allow you to reflect on the previous sermon or prepare you to hear the sermon for that upcoming week. We estimate that each day’s lesson should require no more than 15 minutes.

To be clear, this guide is not intended to be a legalistic requirement. Not at all! Rather, it is a way for us as a congregation to walk together as we explore God’s Word. And to what end? Our prayer is that as we grow in our understanding and practice of daily prayer and meditation, we will grow in the grace and knowledge of Christ and so grow in our love for him and for one another.

A Word about Faith and Doubt

Habakkuk tackles the thorny issues of having faith while asking questions that seem to doubt. We should not be afraid to be honest with God about who we are and what we are concerned about. As Paul encourages us to “not be anxious about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. And the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus” (Philippians 4:6-7). It is essential that we keep the lines of communication open with God and learn to humbly trust in him.

At the same time, doubt becomes dangerous when we stop listening to God’s Word, so that doubt becomes the final word. As a result, we encourage everyone to continue meditating on the Word of God personally, and we hope this guide will be a help.

In the name of our Savior, Jesus Christ,
